Federal Judge I. M. Meekins ruled to day compulsory federal grading and inspection of tobacco on North Carolina markets was unconstitutional and issued an order restraining continuance of the service at four of Oxford's warehouses.

Judge Meekins held that the program, as administered by the United States Department of Agriculture, was discriminatory in that it provided for compulsory grading on only four of North Carolina's numerous tobacco markets.

Chief Executive Is Expected To Demand Legislation That Will Aid America's Common Man

HYDE PARK, N. Y., Nov. 5.—
(AP)—President Roosevelt told a cheering send-off crowd at the depot here tonight he was going back to Washington "to try to balance the budget, thereby carrying out the first campaign pledge" of the New Deal.

By ARTHUR F. DEGREVE.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5 .- (UP) The next four years of the New Deal probably will witness a gradual liquidation of the "pump priming" agencies of the federal government and more attention, to attainment of the social objectives of the Roosevelt administration, in the opinion of government officials.

There may be a tightening of the public purse strings, particularly in the matter of appropriating money for such agencies as the RFC, Rural Resettlement, Commodity Credit Corporation and the Home Owners Loan Corporation.

No one in the New Deal set-up here believes Mr. Roosevelt, who will return to the capital tomorrow, will abandon his policy of "made work" in contrast to the dole. He has said so himself, and the overwhelming mandate he received Tuesday at the polls is regarded here as approval of WPA.

Mr. Roosevelt's lead grew hourly. Tonight the popular vote stood: 25,909,546 Landon 16,049,201

Atlanta's cold wave will begin loos-ning its grip today, starting this morning with temperatures four degrees higher than they were yesterday. Clear skies during the night and early this morning were expected to bring a light frost, according to the weatherman, and during the afternoon conditions will be what he describes as "somewhat cloudy."

"The barometer has been falling in the midwest and in the upper Mississippi valley," said Chief Forecaster George W. Mindling. "Atlanta will probably feel, as a result, a touch of Indian summer."

YES, THIS FOOD ENDS YOUR CONSTIPATION

Look out for those half-sick days when you feel listless, headachy out-of-sorts. Your trouble may be constipation. The real cause of common constipation is too little "bulk" in meals. Your system misses its regular exercise.

Get this needed "bulk" in a deli-cious cereal: Kellogg's ALL-BRAN. Within the body, its "bulk" absorbs moisture, forms a soft mass, gently sponges out the system.

Why keep on feeling bad when you can feel good? Millions of people use ALL-BRAN. Tests prove it's safe and effective. ALL-BRAN is guaranteed. Try it a week. If not satisfactory, your money will be refunded by the Kellogg Company.

Two tablespoonfuls daily are usually sufficient. Serve as a cereal with milk or cream, or cook into recipes. Remember, ALL-BRAN also supplies vitamin B and iron.

Certainly you'd rather eat a food than take pills and drugs. Buy ALL-BRAN at your grocer's. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

To those women who have watched advancing food prices with increasing alarm, Merita presents these interesting facts. Merita Bread presents an ideal food from the standpoint of economy and nutrition. Its price in spite of much higher ingredient costs is the same as a year ago. Its size and food value is unchanged. But what is infinitely more important, Merita Bread, because of its exclusive Baked in Flavor, will not cloy the family appetite. Indeed, it will add zest to everything you serve. When you use Merita Bread, the family eats more bread and that's true economy and wisdom. In the next paragraph are the statements of the food value of bread from America's highest nutritional authority. Read them.

Says About Bread

"Your most reliable authority on nutrition, as related to health, is the Committee on Foods of the American Medical Association. This Committee accepts the following statements as true facts about bread:

"(1) Bread is our outstanding source of the largest single need in the balanced diet-food energy.

"(2) Bread is a most economical source of food energy. Almost no waste in white bread as it is 96% digested."

How Merita Protects You

As food prices rise it is only common sense to want to know what goes into the bread you buy. Everything used in Merita Bread, flour, shortening, milk, yeast, is tested carefully, impartially, in the South's finest laboratory. Just as the baked loaf of Merita Bread is tested every day in the same laboratory for quality. That is why you can always be sure of Merita quality, Merita goodness, day in and Merita Bread is baked fresh every morning. As it leaves the ovens it is sealed in heavily waxed paper. Fast delivery trucks take it to your grocer's twice daily. Your grocer is never over-stocked; therefore, you can be sure the loaf of Merita you buy is fresh always-just a few hours out of the oven and fragrant with the appe-

Democratic Leader Not Sure He Has Best of Deal in Bet.

The trail of the uncovered wagon was blazed yesterday down Peachtree and Whitehall streets, with Clint Hager, Republican state chairman, giving Hugh Howell, former chairman of the State Democratic Executive committee, a free ride in a wheelbarrow—the most uncomfortable one in the state, according to Mr. Howell.

It was an election bet pay-off, with Mr. Hager wearing a sign on his back, "I votell for Landon." That told the story.

The bumpy ride started at noon at the Candler building and ended at Whitehall and Alabama street, with Mr. Hager puffing slightly and Mr. Howell finding himself dumped from his chariot onto the car tracks.

The winner of the election bet picked himself up from the street, brushed off his clothes, shook hands with Mr. Hager and made a remark that indicated he was not sure just who really came out winner.

EDDIE GUYOL KILLING RE-ENACTED BY WIDOW

Dozen Witnesses Called by State Weave Web of Cireumstantial Evidence.

A web of circumstantial evidence being woven around Odie V. Fluker by Solicitor General John A. Boykin yesterday as the second day of Fluker's trial for the murder of Eddie Guyol, Atlanta "numbers" game operator, came to an end.

A dozen witnesses were called by the state in an attempt to show that the state in an attempt to show that Fluker was in possession of a 45-caliber automatic pistol from which the bullet that killed Guyol was fired. The defense lawyers in cross-examination attacked the credibility of the state's witnesses and late yesterday subjected Birmingham City Detective Virgil Sandifer to a gruelling quarterhour concerning his motives in working on the Guyol case.

The balancing will be accomplished, not wholly through a reduction of expenditures, although many curtailments will be made, but largely by reason of increased revenues, based on expanding business.

COURT Of course, no one knows anything about it, but there is a rather general expectation on the inside here that Mr. Roosevelt's first appointment to the supreme court will be Senator Robert Wagner, of New York.

Wagner, of New York.

Some speculation has been going on about the possibility that he might appoint his good friend, Felix Frankfurter. There is no question that he would like to, but there is some question whether Frankfurter could be confirmed by the senate. Wagner would be confirmed without a contest. His appointment would accomplish Mr. Roosevelt's well-known purposes regarding the court, and would avoid all the troubles that a Frankfurter appointment would entail.

The oft-mentioned possibility that Senate Leader Robinson might get the first court opening is now considered remote. If there are two vacancies within the next four years, they will probably go to Wagner and Frankfurter, and in that order.

LANDON WASHINGTON, Nov. 5.—There has been some talk among the Republican moguls about Governor Landon running for the senate two years hence. The opportunity is too far away to warrant a safe prediction, but his plans probably will work around that way. His friends began suggesting it midway in the presidential campaign, when it became evident to them that he would lose.

COMFORT Some who came in close contact with the Republican presidential candidate got the notion, weeks ago, that he would not win. Mrs. Landon, also, they say, was not eager to become a White House hostess.

Whether or not these surmises are correct, they are certainly reasonable. Few men with a home, a family, a pipe, and security for old age would want to take on the troubles of the world which rest on the executive mansion.

President Roosevelt likes it. He is having more fun than he could have anywhere else. He personally appreciates the power and is deeply interested in the opportunities for social development.

Free Than the Slave Who Enjoys His Job

By ROBERT QUILLEN
We Americans rejoice in our freedom, and in truth we are more free than any other people in the exercise of civil rights.

But we are slaves, nevertheless, and our slavery is no less real beause we endure it willingly. When a young American begins to feel his ego, he resents any show of authority and grimly declares: "Nobody can boss me. I'm my own man, and I'd like to see anybody try to run me."

Yet somebody does "run" him all the days of his life, and seldom if ever does he escape the domination of his master. Consider the obvious matter of his opinions. Does he make them to please himself, without let or hindrance? Does he sit in solitude and say to himself: "Now I shall consider this matter pro and con and form own opinion as a free man should"?

Not unless he is a very unusual young man. Thinking requires too much effort. Instead he accepts the ready-made opinions prepared for him by propagandists with a cause to serve, and these become his principles. Of course his religious, political and social opinions are the ones "wished" upon him by his parents and his environment.

He thinks that he chooses his way of life, but he is fooling himself. If he really covets wealth and the things money will provide—a fine ouse, uniformed servants, deep-piled rugs, costly tapestries, rare porcelains and such pretties, plus dinner in a boiled shirt, he may exchange his life for them as an exercise of liberty. But if given a free choice, he would be more likely to prefer an easier and humbler life, with much hunting and fishing and plain loafing, habitually clothed in disreputable garments and a six-day beard, and just enough work to provide necessary shelter and food.

In that way of life he could be content and free of envy—if he were a free man.

But tradition, custom and a small section of public opinion require him to be a go-getter and a somebody, and he dare not rebel.

So he treats his few brief years of life and liberty for the slavery of orthodoxy, and wears himself out doing work he doesn't enjoy to earn money he doesn't need to buy trinkets he doesn't want. If that is freedom, the mule that pulls a plow to produce cotton it doesn't want should bray thanksgiving for its liberty.

SAN FRANCISCO. Nov. 5.—(P)—
The strike blockade of American shipping became acute in many ports to night and leaders on both sides indicates they expected presideatial intervention in the situation.

One New York ship operator accused strikers of instituting a "reign of terror" to spread their walkout there. A strike leader retorted that ship owners had hired "mobsters" to attack pickets.

Seamen's union "insurgents" attempted anew to tie up the port of Boston. Many strikers were held by police in Galveston and New Orleans.

Food prices soared in strike bound Honolulu. Travelers competed with each other for passage between Hawaii and the mainland. Five of them decided to pay $200 fines each and saii on foreign ships. This fine is imposed on foreign lines if they carry passengers between American ports.

TO THE PEOPLE OF ATLANTA

At the beginning of this year you entrusted to us the Community Chest

Fund, made up of your contributions. We have administered, and supervised the spending of those funds as carefully, as conscientiously and as economically, we believe, as it has been possible to do. We have applied whatever experience and ability we have to the end that each dollar should go as far, and accomplish as much as it could be made to do, for the purposes for which it was contributed.

At the end of this year, these funds will have been exhausted. For the coming year as nearly as we can foretell, there will be needed the sum of $423,846 as a minimum for these same purposes. This is not an arbitrary figure, but represents, to the best of our belief, after careful investigation, the minimum which actually will be necessary.

We believe that you will make available this amount And we pledge to you, for ourselves and our successors, the same care, the same economy and diligence in its proper expenditure.

We have just completed the semi-

These books and records are carefully and accurately kept and show that operations for the period exceed those for comparative periods in prior years. This can be attributed primarily to efficient and economical administration.

Dazed, Swept Away. The speculators' debacle, which broke the Coolidge bull market in the first six months of Hoover's administration in October, 1929, cracked the walls of the dam. Here Americans for the first time found themselves in the presence of ruthless gods of destiny, which swept them off their feet. Millions of men who thought until the stock market crashed that they were masters of their own fate. they were masters of their own fate, who believed they could control their own luck and life, found themselves helpless amid forces that came from anchors.

Americans thought until the boom broke that they had discovered perpetual motion economics, eternally rising wages, a widening consumers market, constant employment. All they asked in that day was opportunity to develop their individual qualities and swim on a rising tide. But as the tide flowed out, as the undercurrent drew down, fear gripped America. The psychology of the millions in trouble began to change. Men out of work, families with broken fortunes, merchants loaded with bad debts, professional people with shrinkdebts, professional people with shrink-ing incomes stood in terror of they knew not what.

Great masses of Americans, particutween man and an adverse destiny. The President promised labor plenty of work at high wages. He promised the farmer an income in parity with that of industry. He promised the needy food; the unemployed work, even at subsistence wages. Opportunity Traded.

needy food; the unemployed work, even at subsistence wages.

Opportunity Traded.

Rugged individualism, the symbol of the old American days of or portunity, the shibbleth which has lured men to trade their liberty for bread in continental Europe, became the basis of American political thought. Roosevelt became the great father; the Democratic leader who would use government as an agency of human welfare, the old slogan. Roosevelt spoke in character Saturday night when he told the world that the rich had met their match in his first administration and would know their master in the second. That was what his followers wanted to hear, even if it was nagged out of him by Landon's eternal interrogation.

The President's petulant outcry was entirely consistent with the psychology of the hour; the psychology of fear that always comes with national danger. They redected the fear psychology moving the men who made the Roosevelt majority. Yet, other American mitions than its followers hear this outcing with alarm and despair. They could not understand his viewpoint. They rejected the fear psychology moving the men who made the Roosevelt majority; What about the move seems so close a more precious than security.

Why Such a Division?

Why this division in American is really here? If men return to really there is some reason to be the well-field, the well-fedd, the well-fedd

SHARP GAINS SHOWN
IN U. S. EARNINGS

NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—(P)—Earning power of the nation's industries jumped sharply in the third quarter, with heavy industry setting the pace.

The first 275 companies reporting net income for the period gained 55.8 per cent over the same period last year, a compilation by the Associated Press today shows. Total income was $308,569,971 against $197,964,647.

The extent of the improvement recorded in recent years of recovery was indicated by the fact that only 16 corporations were "in the red" for the first nine months. A few years ago between 15 and 20 per cent of the total turned in deficits.

Heavy industry—making goods used by other manufacturers—chalked up the widest gains. Analysts pointed out, however, that the big percentage improvement in this group was partly due to many companies reporting losses a year ago and substantial profits in their latest statements.

GLASS LISTS EXPENSES IN GOVERNOR'S RACE

IN GOVERNOR'S RACE

L. P. Glass, unsuccessful Prohibition candidate for governor in the Tuesday general election, spent $185.21 in his campaign. Glass filed his report on expenditures yesterday in the office of Controller General Homer C. Parker and was the first to make his returns. He said there is a deficit in his fund of $148.59.

Parker's office said the law requires all candidates in the general election to make a report to his office within 20 days after the election—the same as the primary—whether any money was spent or not. Failure to make the report within the specific time prevents the candidate, if successful, from taking office, Parker's office said.

There are several kinds of caribou, including Arctic deer, also called "barren-ground caribou." A herd of Arctic deer on the march in springtime or fall is a sight not to be forgotten. To get away from the extreme cold of the Arctic winter, the animals go south over great prairies west of Hudson bay. Colonel C. J. Betty Gregg To Choose Her Father As Partner at First Dance Tonight

WHEN petite and charming Betty Gregg chooses her partner for the first dance at her debut ball this evening at the Piedmont Driving Club, her father, Robert Gregg, will be the favored gentleman. Betty will follow in the footsteps of her mother, who as Miss Elizabeth Adair, always selected her father, the late Forrest Adair, for her first partner at her dances. Betty is the descendant of Atlanta pioneers who figured conspicuously in the upbuilding of the city and were remarkable community leaders.

Mrs. Gregg's debut ball was the very last social affair given in the New York building of the Piedmont Driving Club, because the building burned to the ground that night "after the ball was over." The particular part of the club, known as the New York building, belonged to New York state and housed the exhibits displayed at the Cotton State and International Exposition just before the turn of the century.

The building stood upon the Piedmont Driving Club property and when the exposition closed it was added to the plant. In the days when Mrs. Gregg was presented to society, the ballroom was upstairs and the cloakrooms were downstairs.

Just to illustrate how informal was Atlanta's social life in those days, the late "Cap" Joyner, chief of the city's fire depart-ment and a well-liked and beloved person, telephoned Mrs. Gregg at 7 o'clock the morning after the ball to tell her about the fire. "That must have been some party," he said. "It was so hot it burned up the club."

had been spending the past month at St. Simon's and left the island early Tuesday in order to arrive in Atlanta in time to cast their vote for F. D. R. Even though they drove with considerable speed, they arrived at their votng precinct a few minutes after the polls closed.

It was life's darkest moment for these ardent supporters of Mr. Roosevelt, and Mrs. Purse used all her charm to persuade the poll managers to reopen for them to vote. Apparently they were captivated, for, even though it was against the rules, they de-cided to vote on whether or not the polls should be opened for the late comers to vote.

It goes without saying that Mr. and Mrs. Purse were among those whose vote gave Mr. Roosevelt his landslide victory.

It seems to me that more and more women are being bothered with oily hair. This trouble certainly cannot be blamed on "permanents." which, if anything, have a drying effect, necessitating oil shampoos after you have them.

Like many things that seem very troublesome, the cure is easier than you think. And here it is:

Wash your hair every week without fail.

There are many kinds of soaps that are good for shampoos and I will tell you one that is especially efficient when used on oily hair.

My Day ELEANOR ROOSEVELT

HYDE PARK, N. Y., Wednesday .- By 6 o'clock Tuesday evening we really settled down to hearing the election returns. Very quickly the people who can compute percentages seemed to be confident that the verdict of the people was in favor of the President. But I, who always feel that you must wait until everything is in before you can be sure, was not so soon convinced.

As the night wore on, however, it was evident that the returns were becoming more and more favorable. Finally, in the early hours of the morning, there came from Governor Landon a telegram which typifies the attitude of one who believes in a democratic form of government. It was a fine message, and from now on let us hope that any bitterness engendered by the heat of battle will be wiped out, and there will be real co-operation by friends and enemies to make the nation as a whole prosper. I have been deeply touched by the small contributions which have been sent to me to transmit to the Democratic campaign fund. They represent more sacrifice, perhaps, than larger sums of money, and are often accompanied by letters which make one realize even more keenly the weight of responsibility of a man who has the confidence of so large a part of the nation as ours.

We finally induced my husband and the children to go to bed somewhere around 3 a. m., after talking with our son, Elliott, and his wife in Texas. They sounded very Jubilant, although I think we woke them

When you have checked each d three spades which was the requisite contract in that suit. South's over-call of the one no-trump was vir-tually a flag flying bid. North should have bid two no-trump on the score rather than raise hearts on a double-ton. As for East's double, certainly he had reason to feel that he could defeat three hearts after his partner callonic CUT.

Calisthenics cannot compete with defeat three hearts after his partner had made the opening spade bid. Actual accomplishment of this, however, he fould much more difficult.

West opened the spade king, dummy won with the ace, and a low grade.

West opened the spade king, dummy won with the ace, and a low spade was promptly returned to the demarathon in west promptly returned to the declarer's eight spot. West won with the jack and made what was as good a return as any, namely, his low heart. If declarer had fallen into the error that would have been more or less normal to this situation, that is to say, had put up dummy's heart ace, ordinary defense would have defeated the contract. But when the low heart was played, East's problem was made too difficult for his capacity. He won with the queen and correctly returned a heart, but now when dummy, in with the ace of hearts, followed up by leading the ten of spades, East did the natural but the unsound thing. He discarded a club, seeing no reason to ruff a card that he knew his partner could win. Declarer likewise discarded a club, seeing no reason to ruff a card that he knew his partner could win. Declarer likewise discarded a club and West took the trick with the queen. West returned a low diamond (no other return would have made any difference) and declarer won this with his king, then laid down the jack and another trump, forcing East to accept his high ten spot. After that, dummy's ace of diamonds remained as entry to the cashing of the two good spade tricks.

Had East thought more deeply on the subject of ruffing a trick that his partner could win, he would have subject of ruffing a trick that his partner could win, he would have seen that he was sacrificing one heart trick in order to prevent the establishment of two spades in dummy. Had he ruffed the ten of spades instead of permitting declarer to force out West's spade queen, the contract inevitably would have been defeated.

Mrs. Flanagan, who wrote she was "the mother of 10 children and one Republican son-in-law who are all for Roosevelt." won the judge's decision for the best essay. But, she forgot to give her address. FRIENDLY COUNSEL By CAROLINE CHATFIELD. Problems of general nterest submitted by readers will be discussed in this col-umn. Correspondence invited. Your nams held in confidence. Write Miss Chat-field in eare of The Atlanta Constitution.

Dear Miss Cha^efield: 1 am the plain and pathetic wife of a good-looking, happy-go-lucky husband whose idea of a good time is lots of cleands continuous avaitament fast whose idea of a good time is lots of friends, continuous excitement, fast travel with people whose income is more than his and mine combined. I marvel that he married me in the first place. I shouldn't complain of him. He is nice to me, explains that my working saves the day as far as our marriage is concerned for we couldn't be happy or contented trying to live on his salary. But here's the rub: I don't feel that I am the one and only one as so many wives one and only one as so many wives do. Every woman we meet is a rival. I suffer torment every time he dances with another girl or buys he dances with another girl or buys her a drink. Consequently I have created some awful scenes and he has warned me that the next will be the last. If I should lose him life would be utterly empty and I live in frantic fear of it. Can you give me any encouragement? MRS. WEAKLING.

Answer: Dear lady sit down and reason with yourself while there is yet time. You haven't 100 per cent security and satisfaction in your mar-riage (few have) but the nalf loaf is better than no bread at all and after you have thrown the half loaf away, you will know it. In your present frame of mind you can hardly be a gay and attractive companion. Your one chance to keep your husband's feet to the home fires is to have pleasantness and peace on the hearthstone. This you cannot have if your heart is frenzied with fear.

Maybe after all in your adoration of the great big beautiful boy you are overestimating his charms for the fair sex. Love blinds some wives and it also nakes others see little men magnified to heroic size. Hu-man nature being what it is we al-ways think the other fellow admires man nature ways think the other fellow admires what we admire, wants what we want. The wife who has magnified vision of her husband's charms makes herself unnecessarily misermakes herself unnecessarily misermakes nersell unnecessarily unser-able by imagining that the world of women is waiting for the sunshine of the smile which lights her life, while the truth is that the world of women doesn't rate that smile so

There is no gainsaying the fact that the skirt-chasing husband inevitably institutes comparisons between his wife and the gay companions with wife and the gay companions with whom he whiles the hours in pleasant dalliance. Yet he chose that wife for qualities that he admired and if she doesn't turn sour on him and make doesn't turn sour on him and make scenes and torment him as well as herself, he is pretty apt to stick

It is a good policy for a woman to set her husband up, making him feel that she thinks him tops. But it is not a good policy for her to let him feel that she thinks herself most favored of women to be his wife. Any man will take advantage of a woman who humbles herself and regards hersel as his inferior. That idea is right down the alley of the vain and egotistical good-look-er who spends his surplus stirring up excitement while his wife works to pay for the groceries.

Wives, weak and strong, don't let your papas get the idea that you are satisfied with a seat on the footstool if only they will sit in the armchair where you can look up and adore. CAROLINE CHATFIELD.

Vandiver Seen as Bulldog Starter; Konemann To Face Auburn

The football clans, gathering today, preparing for the wars of the morrow-will talk-and seek-those qualities. Even as the golfers and the baseball players talk of them

Last night-sitting beside a charcoal fire in the main dressing tent at the Greatest Show on Earth-I thought perhaps I had discovered something.

Harold Genders was talking. He is a "flyer"-one of those who perform on the bars that are high up-close under the canvas of the big top.

Three of them-the leaper, the catcher and the girl who drops the bar-must so mingle the feel of timing as to coordinate exactly. It is rather marvelous to see a great golfer swing. But here are three people—at different points—who must so blend even the finer nuances of their minds and muscles as to produce an exact co-ordination.

"Do you practice much?"

"Not much during the season. Not at all, really. We do hours and hours of work during the winter. But not during the season. We really put on weight, then. "The muscles," he said, "get used to doing so much. And just that much."

I sat forward in the old chair because this sounded

"If we do any work beyond our regular turns," he said, "the muscles become sore from just one extra turn and this is likely to destroy the timing of the act."

This seemed important. Here, I thought, is a man who works regularly at the same thing every day. His muscles become used to a routine as the mind does. And any variation from it means a disturbance of the co-ordination-a breaking in the muscular timing.

Here, said I to myself, you have discovered why football teams, pushed beyond their ordinary endurance on one Saturday, can't come back the next. Here, sitting in a circus tent, you have discovered why baseball players, exerting themselves in a long, hard game which is not like the ordinary game in length or effort, go into slumps. But the football explanation seems almost per-They wear themselves out in a game. The next week the muscles, weary and building back, will not permit the same co-ordination of plays.

But there was one more question. "Then," I asked, "so long as you stick to the regular routine Reserves for Tilt. and don't do anything to upset your muscles or mind, then you don't have slumps or lose your timing?"

"Oh, yes," he said, "there come times when things don't go right-when the catcher has to put on a little more kick to get your hands-when you have to reach for his hands and make the thing look clumsy. Oh, sure, the slumps come."

So I moved on over where the clowns were. I felt very much at home.

But there may be an idea there at that.

Ex-Marist Ace Stars in Final Skirmish for Florida Game.

By Felton Gordon.

ATHENS, Ga., Nov. 5.-To the tune of the same band which blared its phrase in victory time, the Geor-gia Bulldogs squad, losers in the past four games, will take a train Friday night at 7 o'clock for Jacksonville, Fla., and the contest with the Florida Gators Saturday afternoon. Professor R. T. Dottery, director of the Bulldogs' band unit, urged all students to show this squad they still believe in them. He said he expected about half of the band members to be there, and predicted a large num-ber of students would be on hand. As hard work was wound up Coach Mehre was dissatisfied with a scrimmage which was a disappointment to all who saw it. Coot Vandiver, run-ning at first-string right halfback, continued to merit the praise of coaches and fellow players. Observers say he will start against the 'Gators. HARTMAN RETURNS.

A light drill on Grant field Friday afternoon will wind up Auburn's conditioning for the rebounding Yellow Jackets.

Auburn will not face Tech in tophysical shape, although the Tigers might be in a little better condition than they were for Santa Clara. The casualty group still claims Quarterback Joe Stewart and it is definite that he will not get to play in the 40th Tiger-Engineer grid battle Saturday.

Fullback Wilton Kilgore, injured early in the combat with the powerful Broncos, has not been in any rough work this week and falls in the doubtful class for the Tech bout. Auburn's ranking All-American candidate, Captain Walter Gilbert, will be ready to take over the center assignment. Oglethorpe To Meet Erskine Tonight in Final Home Game

FAVORITE SPOT OVER SECEDERS

Injury to Key Players Has Coach Patrick On Spot.

Oglethorpe's Stormy Petrels will play her final home game of the 1936 season at 8 o'clock tonight against the strong Erskine team from Due West, S. C., at Ponce de Leon park.

Injuries have slowed the Petrel team down considerably, as several of her outstanding players have slight injuries that have not healed sufficiently to permit them playing their best. Slay will start his first game at right guard position due to injuries received in the past week to all the men playing that position. Jo Jo Wal-ters, who was put at fullback when Clyburn was unable to practice, has been put back into the line to strengthen that department. Glyburn is expected to be able to play by Friday night, as the ankle injury was not as bad as first believed.

It is doubtful if Henry Horton, Join Reynolds, or Neal will be able to play tonight. All these are ailing.

Oglethorpe should rule a slight favorite over her opponents, judging from the records of the two feams so far this year. Oglethorpe was able to win last year by the narrow margin of a field goal, while the visitors were unable to score.

Williamson's Predictions

EXPLANATION: Figure after each team is fts rating according to the current Williamson football rating table, published last Tuesday. In "Predict" column: 1, means win for No. 1 Team; 2, means win for No. 2 Team; T, means possible tie game or close outcome; R, means prediction reversed against ratings. No 1 Team plays at home. X, Friday afternoon; Y, Friday night; Z, Saturday night.

Where the symbol "" appears with a number in the Predict column, the team named is favored, but a close outcome one way or the other is not unexpected. A difference of 5 percentage points or less in the ratings of two teams often indicates that their game is a "toss-up." However, in from 85 to 90 per cent of case the higher rated team is due to win, even when the difference in ratings is small.

Results of these three major combats should go far in establishing the championship boundaries in the conference race, or, on the ther hand, could throw the proceedings into a jumbled affair.

There are two other Southeastern duels slated, with Vanderbilt tackling Sewance at Nashville and clorade entertaining Georgia at Jacksonville.

Mississippi's Rebels face a formidable nonconference foe in Loyola's wolfpack at Oxford, Miss., preparatory to returning to intersectional campaigning against the strong Marquette machine at Milwaukee next week.

GEORGIA BOYS.

AUBURN, Ala., Nov. 5. — Very likely Georgia boys will man Alabama Polytechnic Institute's starting guard spots against Georgia Tech in Atlanta Saturday. Alternate Captain Frank Gantt, Lavonia, Ga., have been Auburn's starting left and right guards, respectively, in the last two games and they are in line to open the clash with Tech, the Tigers' second oldest grid rival.

Commercial scored on a heads-up piece of football. It was rather soon after the half. Riverside had been penalized 15. The ball was at the Riverside 16. And Walton, trying a fake kick, palmed the ball and Hennis swept around to take it. A swarm of Commercial players drove him back to the I-yard line, where Hennis, Walton and Taylor are four fine backs. A big line, charging hard, paves the way. champion and only unbeaten and untied conference eleven, renews an ancient rivalry with once-defeated Mississippi State at Baton R. uge.

The teams are meeting for the 31st time. Louisiana State having won 17 of the games and two resulted in draws.

Just as important from a titular standpoint is the Birmingham battle between Tulane'. Green Wave and Alabama's Crimson Tide, both unconquered but with scoreless decisions marring their records. Tulane was fought to a draw by Auburn, while Tennessee pulled the stunt against Alabama.

TULANE FAVORED.

The Alabama machine will be engaging Tulane for the first time in 15 years. Their annual battles began, however, back in 1894 and in competition through 1921 Alabama won eight of 13 arguments, with one fray ending in a 5-5 deadlock.

On the basis of performances to date it seems that Louisiana State and Tulane may go into the contests slightly favored, but reports from the training camps indicate Mississippi State and Alabama are ready to concede nothing.

Georgia Tech and Auburn square off in another combat between unbeated conference machines. Each has chalked up two victories, but have been tied. expect those Techs to rise from the ashes of Duke, Vanderbilt and Clemson and play football as they did against the team from Old Kaintuck when they approached something near football perfection.

All this, however, is very tough on members of the Crystal to String along with Auburn as the winner.

It would be very nice to peak into the crystal and come up with the winner down at Jacksonville. The teams look rather even to me. Both have injured men. Florida has the greater incentive to win. Georgia, if the team can score the first tally, will take the game. Florida might have an edge. From my viewpoint, however, the affair is even.

Drowning one's sorrow and celebrating one's happiness usually are expressed in the same fashion and with the same mechanical aids. And there is little difference in the headache.

But one is a lot more fun than the other. Yes, sir, if a little pigskin happiness wants to visit our town this week she can have her choice of the

If the Crystal Gazers' Association can come up with this one-well, it would work wonders.

THE CAMERA EYE. Last week at Nashville a speed camera caught a picture of Huggins, Vanderbilt back, in possession of the ball a yard inside the playing field. The official, Bagley, had ruled the ball was caught after the player went out of bounds.

Pictures of the Minnesota-Northwestern game show, according to Bernie Bierman, that the slugging penalty imposed on Minnesota's Widseth (which penalty made possible the winning Northwestern touchdown) was not slugging and not even a serious breach of the rules.

Movies of the Illinois-Michigan game show, according to officials there, that a play which produced a touchdown for Michigan, which would have won, was legal, and not illegal, as ruled by officials. It would have won the game. The decision hinged on whether or not a pass was a lateral or a forward. It was ruled a forward. The movies clearly show it to be a lateral.

All of which would seem to indicate that coaches who keep naming slow, incompetent officials to work in their games, deserve what they get in poor officiating. It also indicates that officials should realize the importance of being on top of the plays. There is little excuse for an able, physically fit official failing so to be.

REDISCOUNT RATE STEADY.

NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—The Federal Reserve Bank of New York today announced no change in its rediscount rate of 1½ per cent.

Ry FREDERICK GARDNER.

NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—(P)—In one of the broadest markets since 1929, stocks today were whirled up to new recovery peaks with gains of 1 to 5 or more points.

Brokers attributed the second buying rush since the election largely to a revival of optimism for business and industry. Political influences, they said, appeared to be waning.

Transfers totaled 3,619,890 shares, the largest volume since February 19, last. There were 965 separate issues

The come-back of power company shares, it was thought, was due to the belief of some that this group had been oversold in the preceding session. In addition electric output reached a new record high and earn-ings of the major concerns tended to offset fears of more rate cutting and governmental regulation.

CORN PRICES ADVANCE SPIRITED TRADING Wheat Rally Stemmed by Alabama Poor Cables; Oats and Rye Score Upturns.

CHICAGO, Nov. 5.—(R)—Skyrock-eting virtually 3 cents a bushel late today, the corn market became for the time being the grain trade's chief attraction.

Corn closed buoyant, 1 3-8 to 2 3-4 Corn closed buoyant, 1 3-8 to 2 3-4 cents above yesterday's finish. December 97 7-8 to 98 1-2, May, new, 92 3-8 to 98 1-2, July, new, 89 1-2 to 89 3-4; wheat irregular 1-4 off to 7-8 up, December $1.15 3-8 to $1.15 1-2, May $1.13 1-2 to $1.13 5-8, July 99 1-2; oats at 3-8 to 1-2 advance, December 42 3-8, and rye showing 1-2 to 1 1-4 cents bulge, December 85. The outcome in provisions was unchanged to 10 cents higher.

In the final hour, corn trade was more active than at any other time for weeks past.

more active than at any other time for weeks past.

Contrasting with corn, which displayed strength from the outset, wheat at times showed a reactionary trend, despite upturns of securities and notwithstanding continuance of inflation talk. One handicap to wheat price advances came from weakness of the Liverpool wheat market, where the close was at 1-4 to 3-8 cents decline although 1-4 to 3-4 cents gain had been looked for. Furthermore, little or no new export buying of Canadian wheat was heard of.

Market Outlook

United Press Financial Editor.

Post-election stock market operations gained new vigor today to sweep the list into new six-year highs.

list into new six-year highs.

In the past two days nearly 7,000,000 shares have been turned over3,620,890 today and 3,294,000 yesterday. The average daily trading for 1929 (the largest year in market history) was 3,864,635 shares.

The best part of the buying situation in Wall Street opinion is that a large amount of the orders have come from the outside public. The little fellow makes the big markets.

He did in 1929 and finally became so active that the professionals watched his progress for a market clue.

While the financial community would welcome large increases in outside buying, it isn't convinced this pace will continue. The federal reserve's high margin requirements preclude that. But there is a possibility of maintaining a 2,500,000-share average which would bring back real prosperity to the financial district and probably make for a bit of Christmas cheer in the way of business.

Faint but lusty cries were Lee Earl's call of victory in the uphill fight. Once given only a 50-50 chance to live, she is now definitely on the road to health, said her physician.
